

Seed Propagation

Felicia Millett, Plant Diagnostician, CAES

“Growing Annuals from Seeds”

Growing annuals from seed can be a great way to produce a large number of plants for the garden while reducing the cost of purchasing seedlings. It can also introduce a wider selection of plants than what is available in garden centers in spring. This talk will discuss plant selection, materials needed and scheduling - including which annuals are good to start indoors.

Join us for this free program at
Union Congregational Church, 161 Buckingham Street,
May 9, 2024 1:30—2:30